The Lower House and the Ku-Kinx-They Call for Gen. Thomas and a Ballot Box Force for " Protection." In the lower House of the General As senbly, yesterday, the following preamble and resolution offered by Doughty of Anderson were adopted under a suspension of the rule, and transmitted to the Senate: Whereas, There exists in many counties of Middle and West Tennessee, a large and secret organization, which patrols the country insquads, mounted, armed, masked and disguised in such manner that its members cannot be recognized, either by night or day, and many outrages have been, and are being committed upon loyal and peaceful citizens, both white and black, their certificates of registration being forcibly taken from them, and threats made on every hand by said organization that colored men will not be permitted by them to go to the polls or to vote at the election for county officers, now close at hand, and circumstances warrant the belief that a peaceful election cannot be held in many portions of Middle and West Tennessee, without the presence of the military, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the General Assembly he State of Tennessee, That his Excellency the Governor be requested to call upon Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas to make such disposition of his troops in the counties of Giles, Marshall, Maury, Lincoln and Gibson, and at such points as may seem necessary, to protect loyal citizens in the exercise of the elective franchise at the election for county officers on the first Saturday in March next.

How the Law Settles Difficulties. -A day or two since, two men quarreled and fought on Deaderick street. One of them was fined ten dollars and costs at the next session of the Police Court, and the case being afterwards taken up before a Magistrate, he was fined five dollars more. In retaliation, he swore out a warrant and ot his antagonist fined ten dollars in the ommissioner's Court, and yesterday capped the climax by shaving the persistent itigant bound over to the Criminal Court.

KU-KLUX .- A nocturnal parade of body of horsemen dressed in the strange garb of the weird Ku-Klux, took place near Pleasant Grove, Maury county, a night or two since. One of them is said to have worn a hat four feet high, from which a hundred lights streamed out into the dark-

Not at all scouraged by his ill-success, he ascended the stairway and was soon inspecting the upper portion of the building and examinng every article of clothing he could find. He finally stumbled into a room occupied for the night by Dr. Morton, whose immediate presence was required in the house in consequence of the severe illness of one of the mbers of the family, but found nothing there except a handsome silver-mounted lance and case belonging to the physician, and these he pocketed, overlooking, in his search, the whole of the silverware from the dining room, which had by chance been deposited in the apartment occupied by the Doctor. Some papers which Dr. Morton had were scattered about in great confusion, and his pants were found away down in the hall at daylight, along with a lot of other clothing which the disgusted thief had thrown aside on finding the pockets empty of what was wanted. of the family were up at the time of the arrival of the uninvited visitor, but suspected nothing wrong from the slight noise his movements occasioned, and he escaped without being seen by any one.

TRIAL OF THE ASHLAND CITY MUR-DEREUS .- The trial of Martin and Harris, the murderers of young Brinkley, who was shot dead by them just subsequent to a Conservative meeting at Ashland City during the Gubernatorial campaign, is about to come off in the Circuit Court of Cheatham county. As the murder was the result of political differences, it is found very difficult to obtain a jury for the trial of the case. The whole of Wednesday was ness, making an illumination such as few taken up in getting two jurors. Attorney mortals ever beheld.

Circumstances made it proper to postpone this entertainment for one week and it will come off on Wednesday night. the 26th inst, when it is proposed to present one of the finest entertainments of the kind ever given in this city. We trust that the fact will be borne in mind, and that this concert of sacred music will prove as beneficial to the church, as it will certainly be meritorious.

A QUESTION OF VERACITY. - " Dr. Wood, the colored educated physician who has so long figured with the Radicals and slaughtered Latin on the Tennessee stump, says, through the immaculate Times, that the statement to the effect that he had gone over to the Conservatives is "a damnable lie." However that may be, we got the information from a Simon pure Radical of Rutherford, who the "Dr." fifty dollars to stump the county for them, but that the Conservatives had secured him at seventy-five dollars.

To the Editors of the Union and Dispatch. I would call attention to a nuisance in the eighth ward. This morning early, observed several half grown lads throwing rocks at the signs marking the streets and lamp glass on Lindsley avenue. This occurs daily. The people are endangered who are passing, the servants at work in gardens and yards are annoyed and abused, and householders who remonstrate and warn are cursed, insulted and defied. When are the police in that region? This annovance occurs every day; but especially morning and evening, while the boys are passing to and from school. A few arrests and fines would stop what is getting to be intolerable. ORSERVER.

This large balance, if not kept down by the application above referred to, will probably be increased before the May interests fall due to $105,000,-000 or more than four times the sum reruited to pay that interest, exclusive of the customs receipts of May. Independent of the gold held on the 1st., the Treasury had in its various depositories about $45,-000,000 in currency, of $25,578,151 was wholly unappropriated, and the remainder stood to the credit of disbursing officers. And of the $50,000,000 new 3 per cent, certificates which Congress directed to be applied to the payment of the compound in terest notes of 1867, the Secretary held in reserve $24,960,000; having reduced the legal tender compounds, in all the year 1867, to the extent of $96,819,860, without substituting more than $25,040,000 of the three per cents, provided by Congress for the relief of this process. of 7-30 per cents. It is no part of our object in recurring to the above facts to impeach the good intentions or honest motives of the Secretary, but simply to again protest, as we have heretofore done, against a policy at once improvident, and calculated to swell the public debt, bearing interest in gold, beyond all present necessity and to place its maximum, if not soon limited by Congress, about one hundred millions of dollars in excess in the gold-bearing bonds and 7-30 per cent, fundable notes outstanding on the passage of the act of April 12, 1866."
